

The maintenance of Firegard fabrics in Trevira CS

Adhesive of contact	C	Waxing	C+D	Flowers	D	Condensed milk	B	Lipstick	C+D	Loam *	D
Butter	C+D	Wax	C+D	Fruits	E	Lemonade*	A+D	Rust	F	Ground *	D
Beer	E	Cognac	E	Ice cream	B+E	Make-up	C+D	Inking ribbon	D	Tea	E
White of egg	B	Stick (cellulose)	C+D	Lubricate	C	Margarine	C+B	Stains *	C+A	Urine	B
Candle	C	Universal adhesive	C+D	Vegetable fat	C+B	Mayonnaise	B	Blood	B	Nail varnish	C
Mud*	C+A	Jam	E	Bleaches on grass	E	Honey *	A+D	Sauce (crackling)	B+C+D	Wine	E
Pulp	B+E	Chalk	D	Edible oil	C+B	Minium	F	Syrup	A+D+E	Vinaigrette	B+E
Burn	G	Coloring pencil	D	Lubricating oil	C+D	Mustard	D+E	Soda	A+D+E	Vomits	B
Cacao	B+D	Cream	B	Humidity	E	Nicotine	E	Pen ball	D
Coffee	E	Cream for the skin	C+D	Yellow of egg	B+E	Carbon paper	D+E	Soot	C
Dirty oil	C+D	Printing ink	D	Fruit juice	E	Paraffin	C	Tobacco	E

Treatment of the residues of stains:

Generally, the stain-removers are applied using a clean, wet and absorbent cloth.

A Treatment using an oxidizing bleaching agent suggested in the current trade.

B Fresh stains: treatment using an alkaline stain-remover, rinse immediately afterwards. See above.

Old stains; treat using a stain-remover containing enzymes. Respect the rather long time of action. The stain must keep its humidity.

C Treatment using a stain-remover containing solvents, supported by a mechanical action. (Scrape, _vacuum after complete drying of the solvent).

D Treatment using a stain-remover operating on the binder of the dyes. Possibly, bleach then with hydrogen peroxide.

E Fresh stains: treatment using a light organic acid (slightly acid stain-remover). Rinse immediately. See above.

Old stains; treat with the assistance of oxidizing bleaching agent suggested in the current trade.

F Treatment with the means of a rust-proof agent or an acid stain-remover proposed in the current trade. Rinse immediately. See above.

G Cut the burned or molten zone. Replace the part damaged by the same dimension piece of fabric, if one does not lay out any more a fabric, on a less visible place of the fabric and fix it using an adhesive double face band.